Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 30 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cold. Northeastern areas mainly dry, further southwest rain or sleet.

Today:
Norfolk, Suffolk and much of Cambridgeshire dry and cloudy. Elsewhere outbreaks of rain will gradually turn to sleet, possibly snow but with accumulations unlikely, mostly clearing away south late afternoon. Feeling cold everywhere, especially along the coast with strong winds. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Tonight:
Any residual sleet or snow will quickly clear south, and long clear periods will follow. As the wind eases a widespread frost will develop inland. Icy patches likely for southwest. Minimum temperature -3 deg C (27 deg F).

Sunday:
Frosty start, then dry and largely sunny, although later high cloud will arrive. Feeling cold everywhere, despite light winds. Chance of a little overnight snow across southern areas. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Monday cloudy, cold, with outbreaks of rain or snow soon clearing. Tuesday becoming milder, after a spell of rain, perhaps preceded by snow. Wednesday mild, rather cloudy and mainly dry.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.